

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A programmable logic controller, which removes the function of pulse wave transmission from a microprocessor and accomplishes it by using the microprocessor to output an command data, which defines the frequency and the number of the pulse waves,
5 to a pulse-transmitting unit and, to execute the function of pulse wave transmission.